

“An Orthopedic Specialist Gave Me My Life Back.”

“For years I lived in constant pain. Then I found an orthopedic specialist who changed my life.”

-Mary Lou Retton, Olympic Gold Medalist and Total Hip Replacement Recipient

With four small children and an active, athletic lifestyle, Mary Lou Retton couldn't afford to slow down. The pain of hip dysplasia finally caught up to her. Her suffering progressed until routine movement was excruciating and she was unable to perform daily tasks.

After years of taking pain medication with no relief, an orthopedic surgeon diagnosed her condition and treated her with a total hip replacement designed for greater motion and long-term durability. Now she has her active life back. And the pain is gone.

When skilled surgeons and modern implant technology come together, miracles happen.
